

A detailed painting of the Resurrection by Francesco Boneri. The central figure is the risen Christ, depicted with a muscular, youthful physique. He is shown from the waist up, kneeling on one knee, with his right arm raised in a gesture of blessing or proclamation. He wears a white cloth draped around his waist, tied in a knot. The background is dark, with a subtle glow around the figure's head. The overall style is dramatic and emphasizes the physicality of the subject.
